

PRIOR TWOPENOE

PUBLICATIONS.
THE SYDNEY MAIL
 AND
NEW SOUTH WALES ADVERTISER,
 SATURDAY, 6th September contains:—
 The Land      Natural History
 Australian Wheat in the      Association for the Promotion
 London Market      of Morality

merce
 Potatoes Grown with Ma-nures
 Land Question in Ireland
 Breeding of Asses and Mules
 Co-operation in Agriculture
 Exhausted Land
 Horse-Breeding
 On Poisonous Plants
 Breeds' Fasts

Editorials
 Latest Intelligence
 The Week
 Telegraphic, by Cable and Overland Line
 Local and Intercolonial
 Telegrams
 Shipping Gazette Political Commercial

New Aspiring Apprentice
 Victorian Wines in London
 The Weather and Crops
 Agricultural Items
 Summary of English and Foreign News
 Emigration from the United Kingdom
 The International Exhibition at Kensington
 The Southern Coast—Klarna
 District
 Mutual Provident Society
 Sydney Municipal Council
 The Mining Record
 Mining Correspondence
 Horses Impounded
 Aquatics
 Musical Notes
 The Sydney Harbour Water-Works

ment	Country News from Country
Threatening to Murder Mr. Baron Pollock	Papers
The Mordcaunt Case	Newspaper Folding Machines
The Bank Forfeiter	Takes
Continental News, by Stella	Publicans and Sinners : A
The French War Steamer	Life Picture
Atlante	The Precocitta of Pamphillon
Sporting and the Field	Poetry—The Annuity
Racing Chronicle	The Ladies' Column
	Latest Fashions

Spring Meeting
The Derby Day, and Anticipations for the Last Two Days, by Nemo
Sydney Hunt Club Nominations
Richmond River Turf Club Annual Races
Turf in England
The Ascot Meeting
Light Reading
The Shah in Paris
Domestic Economy
Births, Marriages, Deaths.
Illustrations.
Poisonous Plants—Lobelia
pratensis—Solanum
nigrum
The Alexandra Palace

Yearlings.
The Chase Player
of the Duke of Edinburgh
Newspaper Folding Machine.
PRICE FOURPENCE.

THE ILLUSTRATED SYDNEY NEWS.
THE BEST PAPER FOR HOME READERS.

OLD English Sports in Australia: Supplement:—
"THE SYDNEY HUNT CLUB."

OUR Australian Shipping Interests.—INCREASED

OUR Local Improvements:—"BITS ABOUT SYDNEY." New Entrances, BOTANIC GARDENS.
AUSTRALIAN Original Music:—"Atalante Marzuka." Views—COOK'S RIVER and SHOALHAVEN.
SEND BY TO-MORROW'S (Saturday) MAIL THE ILLUSTRATED SYDNEY NEWS.
SYDNEY PUNCH. A GREAT NUMBER—TWO EXTRA PAGES.

DOUBLE-TINTED CARTOON—"HELP, SAUL ZAMIEL"
THIS WEEK'S number contains also
INCANTATION SCENE from "Der Freischütz"— Coming Events cast their Shadows before—
SERVING TWO MASTERS (The Auditor-General and Bank Director)—THE RETURN OF
THE COAL SEARCHERS—Horatian Ode—The Share Market (BULLS AND BEARS)—Silver-

AND HODGE—Shakespearean Jokes, &c., &c.
Published THIS DAY, 128, King-street.

CUMBERLAND MERCURY, established eight years, printed at Stationers' Hall, Parramatta, and published every SATURDAY.

PUBLICATION.—THIS DAY is published, the September Number of the NEW SOUTH WALES MEDICAL GAZETTE, by Messrs. G. LOXTON and CO., 42, New Pitt-street.

TENDERS.

FO BUILDERS—TENDERS will be received on THURSDAY, the 11th of September, for the Erection of two Houses with Sheds, on the site of the premises lately occupied by Mr. M. Spence, known as the "Bee Hive."

Contractors must Tender as follows:—

- 1st. Excavators, Masons, and Bricklayers.
- 2nd. Carpenters, Joiners, and Finishers. Tender

Plans and Specifications may be seen at the office of Mr. THOMAS BOWE, Architect,
Vickers's-chambers, Pitt-street.

TO BUILDERS.—TENDERS will be received on TUESDAY, the 16th of September, for the erection of a Synagogue Schoolhouse, and Beeble's Residence.

Contractors must tender as follows:—
1st. Excavators, masons, and bricklayers.
2nd. Carpenters, joiners, and finishing trades.
3rd. The whole in one sum.
Plans and specifications may be seen, and all particulars obtained, at the office of
Mr. THOMAS ROWE, Architect,
Vickers's chambers, Pitt-street.

---

NAVY AND EXCAVATORS.—TENDERS FOR

CLUB-HOUSE HOTEL, BATHURST.—TENDERS are required for the Lease for a term of 5, 7, or 10 years, of that long-established and leading Hotel in the City of Bathurst well-known as "The Club-house Hotel." Possession given in the beginning of January next.

next to the undersigned proprietor, from whom full particulars may in the meantime be obtained.
The highest or any tender not necessarily accepted.
JOHN DARGIN,
Littlebourne, Kelso.

---

OKAENVILLE GOLD MINING COMPANY.

TENDERS will be received until THURSDAY, the 26th September instant, for the purchase of the LEASE of the MINE, THAMES VALLEY, N.S.W.

Tenders to be addressed to the Board of Directors, care of W. C. BELBRIDGE, Legal Manager, 170, Pitt-street, Sydney.

TENDERS wanted, to build a WORKSHOP. Apply 70, York-street.

TENDERS for the COTTAGE in Dowling-street.
Readers, to be sent into my office, THIS DAY,
before 12 o'clock a.m. AMBROSE THORNLEY, jun.,
architect, Catherine-street, Gilead.

HOUSES AND LAND FOR SALE

CAPITAL CITY INVESTMENT.—For SALE, by order of the mortgagee, large stone HOUSE and SHOP, occupied by Mr. Johnson, butcher, corner of Argyle and Kent sts. E. W. ROBERTS, 156, Castle-gate-st.

FOR SALE, 3 HOUSES, Derwent-street, Globe, together or separate. Pigott and Trickett, King-st.

FOR SALE, country STORE, freehold. Stock at valuation. W. DOUGLASS, 48, Market-street.

PUBLIC NOTICE.
OUR BUSINESS will be carried on as usual during
the REBUILDING OF THE SOUTHERN PREMIERS.

FARMER AND COMPANY, VICTORIA HOUSE.

I WILL NOT be responsible for any DEBTS contracted by my WIFE, after this date,
WILLIAM ROSEN, Reynolds-street, Melbourne.
September 4.

10

AUSTRALIAN JOCKEY CLUB SPRING MEETING.

PAVING HIS EXCELLENCY'S HORSE—George Robert Robinson, Esq., President, The Hon. E. D. Thompson, Esq., Vice-President, The Hon. E. D. Thompson, Esq., Secretary, The Hon. E. D. Thompson, Esq., Treasurer, The Hon. E. D. Thompson, Esq., Clerk, The Hon. E. D. Thompson, Esq., and other members of the Club, were present.

A WORD CONCERNING BILLS.

Now that the forthcoming session of Parliament is drawing close at hand, and the Legislative bills are being introduced, it is not surprising that a word or two concerning the structure of our bills may not be considered out of place. It is well known that whilst a statute is in process of incubation in the Parliamentary Chambers it is termed a "Bill," and that after it has received the Royal or Viceregal assent it becomes an "Act." But our Parliamentary draughtsmen seem to have taken it for granted that the mere passing of a statute is a sufficient indication of its importance, and that it is not necessary to be concerned with the structure of the bill, but that it is sufficient to be a "Bill" to be a "Bill." This is a mistake, and it is not surprising that it should be so, for it is a mistake which is common to all who are not conversant with the law.

The difficulty of introducing money clauses into bills is a well-known fact, and it is not surprising that it should be so, for it is a difficulty which is common to all who are not conversant with the law. The House of Commons has a side-wind method of avoiding difficulties of this kind in statutes, and it is not surprising that it should be so, for it is a method which is common to all who are not conversant with the law. The House of Commons has a side-wind method of avoiding difficulties of this kind in statutes, and it is not surprising that it should be so, for it is a method which is common to all who are not conversant with the law.

DESTRUCTIVE FIRE AT NEWCASTLE.

Last night (Wednesday, September 5), about half-past 11 o'clock, a destructive fire broke out at the Newcastle Iron Works, and it is not surprising that it should be so, for it is a fire which is common to all who are not conversant with the law. The fire was caused by a defective boiler, and it is not surprising that it should be so, for it is a fire which is common to all who are not conversant with the law.

The fire was caused by a defective boiler, and it is not surprising that it should be so, for it is a fire which is common to all who are not conversant with the law. The fire was caused by a defective boiler, and it is not surprising that it should be so, for it is a fire which is common to all who are not conversant with the law.

The fire was caused by a defective boiler, and it is not surprising that it should be so, for it is a fire which is common to all who are not conversant with the law. The fire was caused by a defective boiler, and it is not surprising that it should be so, for it is a fire which is common to all who are not conversant with the law.

The fire was caused by a defective boiler, and it is not surprising that it should be so, for it is a fire which is common to all who are not conversant with the law. The fire was caused by a defective boiler, and it is not surprising that it should be so, for it is a fire which is common to all who are not conversant with the law.

THE SYDNEY MORNING HERALD.

McCallum Mohr and King Tom; 100 to 1 v. The Arrow and the Marchioness; 100 to 1 v. Myrtle.

After one or two attempts the flag was lowered to a good start, the lot going off in a heap, except the Marchioness and the King. For the first time the Arrow and the Marchioness were not in the race, and the King was the only horse left. The King was the only horse left, and the King was the only horse left.

WINNERS OF THE GREAT METROPOLITAN STAKES.

McCallum Mohr and King Tom; 100 to 1 v. The Arrow and the Marchioness; 100 to 1 v. Myrtle.

McCallum Mohr and King Tom; 100 to 1 v. The Arrow and the Marchioness; 100 to 1 v. Myrtle.

McCallum Mohr and King Tom; 100 to 1 v. The Arrow and the Marchioness; 100 to 1 v. Myrtle.

McCallum Mohr and King Tom; 100 to 1 v. The Arrow and the Marchioness; 100 to 1 v. Myrtle.

McCallum Mohr and King Tom; 100 to 1 v. The Arrow and the Marchioness; 100 to 1 v. Myrtle.

McCallum Mohr and King Tom; 100 to 1 v. The Arrow and the Marchioness; 100 to 1 v. Myrtle.

GREAT ANTI-CONFESSIONAL MEETING AT EXETER HALL.

From the Standard, July 1.

A crowd of meeting, convened by the Church Association, was held yesterday evening in Exeter Hall, to protest against the introduction of the confessionals into the Church of England. The chair was taken, amid loud cheers, by the Rev. Dr. Sturges, who was accompanied by the Rev. Mr. Newcombe, M.P., Mr. Green, M.P., and other members of the Church of England.

The Rev. Dr. Sturges, in opening the proceedings, addressed the meeting as the "allegory and laity of the Church of England, friends of the Reformation, and the friends of the Church of England." He said that the confessionals were a "monstrous and wicked attack" on the Reformation, and that they were a "monstrous and wicked attack" on the Reformation.

The Rev. Dr. Sturges, in opening the proceedings, addressed the meeting as the "allegory and laity of the Church of England, friends of the Reformation, and the friends of the Church of England." He said that the confessionals were a "monstrous and wicked attack" on the Reformation, and that they were a "monstrous and wicked attack" on the Reformation.

The Rev. Dr. Sturges, in opening the proceedings, addressed the meeting as the "allegory and laity of the Church of England, friends of the Reformation, and the friends of the Church of England." He said that the confessionals were a "monstrous and wicked attack" on the Reformation, and that they were a "monstrous and wicked attack" on the Reformation.

The Rev. Dr. Sturges, in opening the proceedings, addressed the meeting as the "allegory and laity of the Church of England, friends of the Reformation, and the friends of the Church of England." He said that the confessionals were a "monstrous and wicked attack" on the Reformation, and that they were a "monstrous and wicked attack" on the Reformation.

The Rev. Dr. Sturges, in opening the proceedings, addressed the meeting as the "allegory and laity of the Church of England, friends of the Reformation, and the friends of the Church of England." He said that the confessionals were a "monstrous and wicked attack" on the Reformation, and that they were a "monstrous and wicked attack" on the Reformation.

THE RAILWAY FROM THE CAPE TO THE INDIAN OCEAN.

From the Standard, July 1.

A crowd of meeting, convened by the Church Association, was held yesterday evening in Exeter Hall, to protest against the introduction of the confessionals into the Church of England. The chair was taken, amid loud cheers, by the Rev. Dr. Sturges, who was accompanied by the Rev. Mr. Newcombe, M.P., Mr. Green, M.P., and other members of the Church of England.

The Rev. Dr. Sturges, in opening the proceedings, addressed the meeting as the "allegory and laity of the Church of England, friends of the Reformation, and the friends of the Church of England." He said that the confessionals were a "monstrous and wicked attack" on the Reformation, and that they were a "monstrous and wicked attack" on the Reformation.

The Rev. Dr. Sturges, in opening the proceedings, addressed the meeting as the "allegory and laity of the Church of England, friends of the Reformation, and the friends of the Church of England." He said that the confessionals were a "monstrous and wicked attack" on the Reformation, and that they were a "monstrous and wicked attack" on the Reformation.

The Rev. Dr. Sturges, in opening the proceedings, addressed the meeting as the "allegory and laity of the Church of England, friends of the Reformation, and the friends of the Church of England." He said that the confessionals were a "monstrous and wicked attack" on the Reformation, and that they were a "monstrous and wicked attack" on the Reformation.

The Rev. Dr. Sturges, in opening the proceedings, addressed the meeting as the "allegory and laity of the Church of England, friends of the Reformation, and the friends of the Church of England." He said that the confessionals were a "monstrous and wicked attack" on the Reformation, and that they were a "monstrous and wicked attack" on the Reformation.

The Rev. Dr. Sturges, in opening the proceedings, addressed the meeting as the "allegory and laity of the Church of England, friends of the Reformation, and the friends of the Church of England." He said that the confessionals were a "monstrous and wicked attack" on the Reformation, and that they were a "monstrous and wicked attack" on the Reformation.

MERCANTILE AND MONEY MARKET.

From the Standard, July 1.

A crowd of meeting, convened by the Church Association, was held yesterday evening in Exeter Hall, to protest against the introduction of the confessionals into the Church of England. The chair was taken, amid loud cheers, by the Rev. Dr. Sturges, who was accompanied by the Rev. Mr. Newcombe, M.P., Mr. Green, M.P., and other members of the Church of England.

The Rev. Dr. Sturges, in opening the proceedings, addressed the meeting as the "allegory and laity of the Church of England, friends of the Reformation, and the friends of the Church of England." He said that the confessionals were a "monstrous and wicked attack" on the Reformation, and that they were a "monstrous and wicked attack" on the Reformation.

The Rev. Dr. Sturges, in opening the proceedings, addressed the meeting as the "allegory and laity of the Church of England, friends of the Reformation, and the friends of the Church of England." He said that the confessionals were a "monstrous and wicked attack" on the Reformation, and that they were a "monstrous and wicked attack" on the Reformation.

The Rev. Dr. Sturges, in opening the proceedings, addressed the meeting as the "allegory and laity of the Church of England, friends of the Reformation, and the friends of the Church of England." He said that the confessionals were a "monstrous and wicked attack" on the Reformation, and that they were a "monstrous and wicked attack" on the Reformation.

The Rev. Dr. Sturges, in opening the proceedings, addressed the meeting as the "allegory and laity of the Church of England, friends of the Reformation, and the friends of the Church of England." He said that the confessionals were a "monstrous and wicked attack" on the Reformation, and that they were a "monstrous and wicked attack" on the Reformation.

The Rev. Dr. Sturges, in opening the proceedings, addressed the meeting as the "allegory and laity of the Church of England, friends of the Reformation, and the friends of the Church of England." He said that the confessionals were a "monstrous and wicked attack" on the Reformation, and that they were a "monstrous and wicked attack" on the Reformation.

THE SYDNEY MORNING HERALD.

McCallum Mohr and King Tom; 100 to 1 v. The Arrow and the Marchioness; 100 to 1 v. Myrtle.

After one or two attempts the flag was lowered to a good start, the lot going off in a heap, except the Marchioness and the King. For the first time the Arrow and the Marchioness were not in the race, and the King was the only horse left. The King was the only horse left, and the King was the only horse left.

WINNERS OF THE GREAT METROPOLITAN STAKES.

McCallum Mohr and King Tom; 100 to 1 v. The Arrow and the Marchioness; 100 to 1 v. Myrtle.

McCallum Mohr and King Tom; 100 to 1 v. The Arrow and the Marchioness; 100 to 1 v. Myrtle.

McCallum Mohr and King Tom; 100 to 1 v. The Arrow and the Marchioness; 100 to 1 v. Myrtle.

McCallum Mohr and King Tom; 100 to 1 v. The Arrow and the Marchioness; 100 to 1 v. Myrtle.

McCallum Mohr and King Tom; 100 to 1 v. The Arrow and the Marchioness; 100 to 1 v. Myrtle.

McCallum Mohr and King Tom; 100 to 1 v. The Arrow and the Marchioness; 100 to 1 v. Myrtle.

FAMOUS BRITISH REGIMENTS.

THE SCOTS GREYS (SECOND DRAGOONS).
This redoubtable regiment, that has so long fought to protect the right, was first enrolled to defend the wrong. In 1678, when the unwise Act was issued for establishing episcopacy in Presbyterian Scotland, and in 1679, when the still more tyrannical Act, forbidding prayer-meetings in the open air, was passed, the brave and pious people of Scotland began here and there to rise in arms. In 1678, two troops of Scots dragoons were raised to carry out these Acts, and from these troops the Scots Greys have descended. The first troop was commanded by Lieutenant-General Thomas Dalziel, an old Cavalier officer who had fought for the Czar against the Tartars; the second by Lord Charles Murray, second son of John, first Marquis of Athole, and afterwards the Earl of Dunmore, of a third troop, levied a few months later, Lord Francis Stuart, one of the Life Guards, and grandson of the Earl of Bothwell, a gentleman not unknown to us, thanks to the pages of Old Mortality, was the commander.

The murder on Magnus Mound of Archbishop Sharp excited the rough soldiery to cruel reprisals. They fired into groups of praying men, and shot, arrested, and tortured many preachers and leaders of the poor wandering folk. Foremost among the persecutors, and the most untiring, was the Duke of Argyll, a man of noble lineage, and the Claverhouse—the Bonnie Dundee of Scotland's best ballad. With no religion, no compassion himself, he trod the poor fugitives under his horse's feet. At Drumclog the Covenanters at last turned upon him; he lost thirty men in a sharp skirmish, and had a horse killed beneath him. The next day the claret Covenanters attacked Glasgow, but were repulsed. The battle of Bothwell Bridge soon followed, where the wild young Duke of Monmouth led on the Scots Dragoons, a few English horse from the Border, and a handful of Scotch militia. The Duke of foot. They were faced by four thousand grim and "sour" Covenanters. While preaching and wrangling the Covenanters were attacked by Captain Stuart's Scots Dragoons. The three hundred stubborn Kinmen, and a thousand English militia, under the bridge, commanded by Hackston of Rathillet, fought till their last cartridge was gone, and then gleefully fell back. The key of the Covenanters' position was lost for ever. The foot guards soon cleared the bridge; the army passing across, opened what was then considered a heavy cannonade, and at the same time the Scots Dragoons went to work with their swords on the insurgents' flanks. The game was hopeless. The Covenanters' horsemen fled. One thousand two hundred foot surrendered without striking a blow, and the army was taken back to their barracks. Then came the legal butchery of those cruel and persecuting times; two preachers and five leaders were hung, and three hundred honest men transported to the plantations. In many a Scotch home, in the year 1688, a Rachel, or a Rachel's child, was known and refused to be comforted. Again, in 1688, the Scots Dragoons were employed in more of this hateful service. In a hot fight at Ayr Moss, in the shire of Ayr, twenty Covenanters, including a preacher, were slain; and Hackston of Rathillet, one of the most famous of the Scotch leaders, was killed. The Duke of Argyll, the leader at Bothwell Bridge, was taken. The dragoons lost several men and horses, and Lieutenant Crichton was severely wounded. Hackston and three of his comrades were soon afterwards hung at Edinburgh.

In 1688, Charles the Second ordered three additional troops of dragoons to be raised, and the six troops were incorporated into the Royal Regiment of Scots Dragoons. Lieutenant-General Dalziel, the coarse and eccentric old bearded Cavalier, being appointed Colonel, while a second regiment was entrusted to the unscrupulous Claverhouse. The Scots Dragoons at this time wore black and buff breeches, and a pot helmet. They had swords, and carried carbines and horse-pistols, fourteen inches long in the barrel. Twelve soldiers of each troop and the non-commissioned officers wore half-boots, the soldiers wore puttees and gaiters, or great knicker, as it is called in a warrant of 1672. In 1687, the dragoons were ordered to carry snap-haunce muskets, with bright barrels, three feet four inches long, cartouch-boxes, bayonets, grenade pouches, buckles, and hanger-belts.

After much preaching of poor conscientious peasants, who would not disown by oath all plots against the king, the Royal Scots had at last more armed enemies to meet who were worthy of their steel. In 1688, James the Second ascended the throne, and Scotland again burst into a flame. The presbyterian, who were all landed gentry, and the royalists, who were all the nobles, began. Near Dunbarton the Earl and the King's forces joined issue. The rebels were sheltered by a small enclosure, and the Scots Dragoons (at that time trained to fight on horse or foot) dismounted, and scaled the ramparts. The rebels took post in the wood, and a thunderbolt in the middle, upon a blue and white ground, and bearing the motto, "Sons of a giantess." The Greys had fought with such swiftness and spirit that only a lieutenant and a few troopers were wounded, and four horses killed.

In 1716, George the Second changed the dress of the Royal British Dragoons. The new coats were scarlet, double-breasted, and lined with blue, with slit sleeves turned up with blue, buttons of white metal, and white worsted aiguillettes on the right shoulder. The waistcoat and breeches were blue, with blue cloth grenadier caps, having on the front the three crowns and a plume of white feathers. On the red flag was the white horse of Hanover, with the motto, "Ne aspera terrent." Over it, the boots were of jerked leather, the cloaks scarlet, with blue collar and cuffs. The officers wore a buff waistcoat by silver-lace embroidery, and crimson silk sashes, worn across the left shoulder. The sergeants had blue and yellow worsted sashes round their waists.

At Waterloo the Greys particularly distinguished themselves, carrying off one of the special trophies of the battle. When we got clear through the Highlanders," says James Arden, of Glasgow, a rough rider of the Scots Greys, "we were soon on the charge, and a short one it was. A cross-road being in our way, we leaped the first hedge gallantly, traversed the road, and had to leap over another hedge. At this time the smoke from the firing on both sides made us so dark that we could not see distinctly. We had not charged many yards till we came to a column. As yet we had stuck pretty well together, although a great number had fallen about the cross roads. In a very short time we were down upon the column, making pretty clean work of them. Numbers by this time had dropped off, still we pushed forward, and very soon came upon another column, who cried out 'Prisoners!' threw down their arms, stripped themselves of their belts, in accordance with the usual discipline, and ran like hares towards the rear. We pushed on still, and soon came up to another column, some of whom went down on their knees, calling out 'Quarter,' in tones of supplication. Now then, we got among the guns, which had so terribly annoyed us, and paid back the annoyance in grey horse. In the Wousterman, when the Dutch left England the King mounted the Royal Scots in a similar manner. The Life Guards already affected black horses, and the French had the custom of distinguishing their cours d'élite by the colour of their horses. In Marlborough's battles these grey horses were now to strike terror among the French. In 1702, the Scots Greys were in Spanish Guelderland, and covered the sieges of Venloo, Ruremond, and Stevensweert, one squadron serving as a guard to Marlborough himself. On his way to Holland, escorted by a squadron of Greys, Marlborough and General Coburg were captured on the Meuse by a French partisan leader, and only escaped by an attendant slipping a French pass into Marlborough's hand, he having disguised himself as a fugitive. In 1703, the Scots Greys distinguished themselves by defeating a French detachment, which had captured a quantity of English specie, recovering the spoil. In 1704, Lord John Hay, son of the Marquis of Tweeddale, was appointed colonel of the Scots Greys. This year Marlborough, having the Rhine and Moselle, and pushed on to the Danube, to assist the Emperor Leopold, then threatened by the French and Bavarians, who had broken through the Black Forest. At Schellenberg the Scots Greys attacked the heights, and serving as infantry in 1705, they fought the battles of Blenheim and Ramillies. In 1706, the Scots Greys drove the French across the Danube. The regiment here lost Captain Douglas and seven men, and nineteen others were wounded.

At Ramillies (1706) the Scots Greys covered themselves with glory. When Churchill and Mordaunt's regiments descended from the heights of Foutz, and drove the French into a morass, where they sank or were butchered, the Scots Greys attacked the enemy's left, routed the French cavalry, and cut several squadrons to pieces. They then spurred into the village of Autzreling, and sabred the French, flushed by victory, they broke into the French Regiment du Roi, which at once surrendered, and gave up its colours and arms to the riders of the grey horses. In a Dutch account of this battle it is stated that the Scots Greys took sixteen or seventeen colours and standards. It is probable that this regiment was the Scots Greys.

One of the private soldiers of the Scots Greys, wounded at the battle of Ramillies, proved to be a famous name. Mrs. Christian Davies, and her life and adventures, were published in a small octavo volume. She stated she was a native of Ireland, and that her husband had having entered the army, she put on his clothes and went in quest of him; but not meeting with him, she enlisted in a regiment of foot, and in 1712 in the Scots Greys. In the campaign of that and the following year, and in 1714 was wounded in the leg at Schellenberg. After the battle of Blenheim, when escorting French prisoners towards Holland, she met with her husband, who was then a private soldier in the First Royal Dragoon, and was known to him, and from this time passed as his brother, until after the battle of Ramillies, where she was wounded by a shell, and her sex discovered by the surgeons. "No sooner had they made the discovery," observes in her narrative, "but they acquainted Brigadier Preston that his pretty dragoon (for so I was always called) was a woman. The news spread far and near, and reaching my Lord John Hay's ears, he came to see me, as did my former commander, who called for my husband. He gave him a full and satisfactory account of our first acquaintance, marriage, and situation, with the manner of his having entered the service, and my resolution to go in search of him. My lord seemed very well entertained with my history, and ordered that my husband should continue while under care. When his lordship heard that I was well enough recovered to go abroad, he generously sent me a parcel of linen. Brigadier Preston made me a present of a handsome silk gown; every one of our officers complimented me, and the kindness with which was requisite for the dress of my sex, and I was personally thanked them. The Greys lost about 30 officers and men killed and wounded.

In 1712 George the Second reviewed the Scots Greys on New Green. "Fine hardy fellows, that want no reasoning," says the Champion of June 1712, "the Duke of Marlborough was especially pleased with these bull-dog soldiers, and personally thanked them. The Greys lost about 30 officers and men killed and wounded.

In 1716, George the Second changed the dress of the Royal British Dragoons. The new coats were scarlet, double-breasted, and lined with blue, with slit sleeves turned up with blue, buttons of white metal, and white worsted aiguillettes on the right shoulder. The waistcoat and breeches were blue, with blue cloth grenadier caps, having on the front the three crowns and a plume of white feathers. On the red flag was the white horse of Hanover, with the motto, "Ne aspera terrent." Over it, the boots were of jerked leather, the cloaks scarlet, with blue collar and cuffs. The officers wore a buff waistcoat by silver-lace embroidery, and crimson silk sashes, worn across the left shoulder. The sergeants had blue and yellow worsted sashes round their waists.

At Waterloo the Greys particularly distinguished themselves, carrying off one of the special trophies of the battle. When we got clear through the Highlanders," says James Arden, of Glasgow, a rough rider of the Scots Greys, "we were soon on the charge, and a short one it was. A cross-road being in our way, we leaped the first hedge gallantly, traversed the road, and had to leap over another hedge. At this time the smoke from the firing on both sides made us so dark that we could not see distinctly. We had not charged many yards till we came to a column. As yet we had stuck pretty well together, although a great number had fallen about the cross roads. In a very short time we were down upon the column, making pretty clean work of them. Numbers by this time had dropped off, still we pushed forward, and very soon came upon another column, who cried out 'Prisoners!' threw down their arms, stripped themselves of their belts, in accordance with the usual discipline, and ran like hares towards the rear. We pushed on still, and soon came up to another column, some of whom went down on their knees, calling out 'Quarter,' in tones of supplication. Now then, we got among the guns, which had so terribly annoyed us, and paid back the annoyance in grey horse. In the Wousterman, when the Dutch left England the King mounted the Royal Scots in a similar manner. The Life Guards already affected black horses, and the French had the custom of distinguishing their cours d'élite by the colour of their horses. In Marlborough's battles these grey horses were now to strike terror among the French. In 1702, the Scots Greys were in Spanish Guelderland, and covered the sieges of Venloo, Ruremond, and Stevensweert, one squadron serving as a guard to Marlborough himself. On his way to Holland, escorted by a squadron of Greys, Marlborough and General Coburg were captured on the Meuse by a French partisan leader, and only escaped by an attendant slipping a French pass into Marlborough's hand, he having disguised himself as a fugitive. In 1703, the Scots Greys distinguished themselves by defeating a French detachment, which had captured a quantity of English specie, recovering the spoil. In 1704, Lord John Hay, son of the Marquis of Tweeddale, was appointed colonel of the Scots Greys. This year Marlborough, having the Rhine and Moselle, and pushed on to the Danube, to assist the Emperor Leopold, then threatened by the French and Bavarians, who had broken through the Black Forest. At Schellenberg the Scots Greys attacked the heights, and serving as infantry in 1705, they fought the battles of Blenheim and Ramillies. In 1706, the Scots Greys drove the French across the Danube. The regiment here lost Captain Douglas and seven men, and nineteen others were wounded.

At Ramillies (1706) the Scots Greys covered themselves with glory. When Churchill and Mordaunt's regiments descended from the heights of Foutz, and drove the French into a morass, where they sank or were butchered, the Scots Greys attacked the enemy's left, routed the French cavalry, and cut several squadrons to pieces. They then spurred into the village of Autzreling, and sabred the French, flushed by victory, they broke into the French Regiment du Roi, which at once surrendered, and gave up its colours and arms to the riders of the grey horses. In a Dutch account of this battle it is stated that the Scots Greys took sixteen or seventeen colours and standards. It is probable that this regiment was the Scots Greys.

One of the private soldiers of the Scots Greys, wounded at the battle of Ramillies, proved to be a famous name. Mrs. Christian Davies, and her life and adventures, were published in a small octavo volume. She stated she was a native of Ireland, and that her husband had having entered the army, she put on his clothes and went in quest of him; but not meeting with him, she enlisted in a regiment of foot, and in 1712 in the Scots Greys. In the campaign of that and the following year, and in 1714 was wounded in the leg at Schellenberg. After the battle of Blenheim, when escorting French prisoners towards Holland, she met with her husband, who was then a private soldier in the First Royal Dragoon, and was known to him, and from this time passed as his brother, until after the battle of Ramillies, where she was wounded by a shell, and her sex discovered by the surgeons. "No sooner had they made the discovery," observes in her narrative, "but they acquainted Brigadier Preston that his pretty dragoon (for so I was always called) was a woman. The news spread far and near, and reaching my Lord John Hay's ears, he came to see me, as did my former commander, who called for my husband. He gave him a full and satisfactory account of our first acquaintance, marriage, and situation, with the manner of his having entered the service, and my resolution to go in search of him. My lord seemed very well entertained with my history, and ordered that my husband should continue while under care. When his lordship heard that I was well enough recovered to go abroad, he generously sent me a parcel of linen. Brigadier Preston made me a present of a handsome silk gown; every one of our officers complimented me, and the kindness with which was requisite for the dress of my sex, and I was personally thanked them. The Greys lost about 30 officers and men killed and wounded.

In 1712 George the Second reviewed the Scots Greys on New Green. "Fine hardy fellows, that want no reasoning," says the Champion of June 1712, "the Duke of Marlborough was especially pleased with these bull-dog soldiers, and personally thanked them. The Greys lost about 30 officers and men killed and wounded.

In 1716, George the Second changed the dress of the Royal British Dragoons. The new coats were scarlet, double-breasted, and lined with blue, with slit sleeves turned up with blue, buttons of white metal, and white worsted aiguillettes on the right shoulder. The waistcoat and breeches were blue, with blue cloth grenadier caps, having on the front the three crowns and a plume of white feathers. On the red flag was the white horse of Hanover, with the motto, "Ne aspera terrent." Over it, the boots were of jerked leather, the cloaks scarlet, with blue collar and cuffs. The officers wore a buff waistcoat by silver-lace embroidery, and crimson silk sashes, worn across the left shoulder. The sergeants had blue and yellow worsted sashes round their waists.

In 1716, George the Second changed the dress of the Royal British Dragoons. The new coats were scarlet, double-breasted, and lined with blue, with slit sleeves turned up with blue, buttons of white metal, and white worsted aiguillettes on the right shoulder. The waistcoat and breeches were blue, with blue cloth grenadier caps, having on the front the three crowns and a plume of white feathers. On the red flag was the white horse of Hanover, with the motto, "Ne aspera terrent." Over it, the boots were of jerked leather, the cloaks scarlet, with blue collar and cuffs. The officers wore a buff waistcoat by silver-lace embroidery, and crimson silk sashes, worn across the left shoulder. The sergeants had blue and yellow worsted sashes round their waists.

At Waterloo the Greys particularly distinguished themselves, carrying off one of the special trophies of the battle. When we got clear through the Highlanders," says James Arden, of Glasgow, a rough rider of the Scots Greys, "we were soon on the charge, and a short one it was. A cross-road being in our way, we leaped the first hedge gallantly, traversed the road, and had to leap over another hedge. At this time the smoke from the firing on both sides made us so dark that we could not see distinctly. We had not charged many yards till we came to a column. As yet we had stuck pretty well together, although a great number had fallen about the cross roads. In a very short time we were down upon the column, making pretty clean work of them. Numbers by this time had dropped off, still we pushed forward, and very soon came upon another column, who cried out 'Prisoners!' threw down their arms, stripped themselves of their belts, in accordance with the usual discipline, and ran like hares towards the rear. We pushed on still, and soon came up to another column, some of whom went down on their knees, calling out 'Quarter,' in tones of supplication. Now then, we got among the guns, which had so terribly annoyed us, and paid back the annoyance in grey horse. In the Wousterman, when the Dutch left England the King mounted the Royal Scots in a similar manner. The Life Guards already affected black horses, and the French had the custom of distinguishing their cours d'élite by the colour of their horses. In Marlborough's battles these grey horses were now to strike terror among the French. In 1702, the Scots Greys were in Spanish Guelderland, and covered the sieges of Venloo, Ruremond, and Stevensweert, one squadron serving as a guard to Marlborough himself. On his way to Holland, escorted by a squadron of Greys, Marlborough and General Coburg were captured on the Meuse by a French partisan leader, and only escaped by an attendant slipping a French pass into Marlborough's hand, he having disguised himself as a fugitive. In 1703, the Scots Greys distinguished themselves by defeating a French detachment, which had captured a quantity of English specie, recovering the spoil. In 1704, Lord John Hay, son of the Marquis of Tweeddale, was appointed colonel of the Scots Greys. This year Marlborough, having the Rhine and Moselle, and pushed on to the Danube, to assist the Emperor Leopold, then threatened by the French and Bavarians, who had broken through the Black Forest. At Schellenberg the Scots Greys attacked the heights, and serving as infantry in 1705, they fought the battles of Blenheim and Ramillies. In 1706, the Scots Greys drove the French across the Danube. The regiment here lost Captain Douglas and seven men, and nineteen others were wounded.

At Ramillies (1706) the Scots Greys covered themselves with glory. When Churchill and Mordaunt's regiments descended from the heights of Foutz, and drove the French into a morass, where they sank or were butchered, the Scots Greys attacked the enemy's left, routed the French cavalry, and cut several squadrons to pieces. They then spurred into the village of Autzreling, and sabred the French, flushed by victory, they broke into the French Regiment du Roi, which at once surrendered, and gave up its colours and arms to the riders of the grey horses. In a Dutch account of this battle it is stated that the Scots Greys took sixteen or seventeen colours and standards. It is probable that this regiment was the Scots Greys.

One of the private soldiers of the Scots Greys, wounded at the battle of Ramillies, proved to be a famous name. Mrs. Christian Davies, and her life and adventures, were published in a small octavo volume. She stated she was a native of Ireland, and that her husband had having entered the army, she put on his clothes and went in quest of him; but not meeting with him, she enlisted in a regiment of foot, and in 1712 in the Scots Greys. In the campaign of that and the following year, and in 1714 was wounded in the leg at Schellenberg. After the battle of Blenheim, when escorting French prisoners towards Holland, she met with her husband, who was then a private soldier in the First Royal Dragoon, and was known to him, and from this time passed as his brother, until after the battle of Ramillies, where she was wounded by a shell, and her sex discovered by the surgeons. "No sooner had they made the discovery," observes in her narrative, "but they acquainted Brigadier Preston that his pretty dragoon (for so I was always called) was a woman. The news spread far and near, and reaching my Lord John Hay's ears, he came to see me, as did my former commander, who called for my husband. He gave him a full and satisfactory account of our first acquaintance, marriage, and situation, with the manner of his having entered the service, and my resolution to go in search of him. My lord seemed very well entertained with my history, and ordered that my husband should continue while under care. When his lordship heard that I was well enough recovered to go abroad, he generously sent me a parcel of linen. Brigadier Preston made me a present of a handsome silk gown; every one of our officers complimented me, and the kindness with which was requisite for the dress of my sex, and I was personally thanked them. The Greys lost about 30 officers and men killed and wounded.

In 1712 George the Second reviewed the Scots Greys on New Green. "Fine hardy fellows, that want no reasoning," says the Champion of June 1712, "the Duke of Marlborough was especially pleased with these bull-dog soldiers, and personally thanked them. The Greys lost about 30 officers and men killed and wounded.

In 1716, George the Second changed the dress of the Royal British Dragoons. The new coats were scarlet, double-breasted, and lined with blue, with slit sleeves turned up with blue, buttons of white metal, and white worsted aiguillettes on the right shoulder. The waistcoat and breeches were blue, with blue cloth grenadier caps, having on the front the three crowns and a plume of white feathers. On the red flag was the white horse of Hanover, with the motto, "Ne aspera terrent." Over it, the boots were of jerked leather, the cloaks scarlet, with blue collar and cuffs. The officers wore a buff waistcoat by silver-lace embroidery, and crimson silk sashes, worn across the left shoulder. The sergeants had blue and yellow worsted sashes round their waists.

In 1716, George the Second changed the dress of the Royal British Dragoons. The new coats were scarlet, double-breasted, and lined with blue, with slit sleeves turned up with blue, buttons of white metal, and white worsted aiguillettes on the right shoulder. The waistcoat and breeches were blue, with blue cloth grenadier caps, having on the front the three crowns and a plume of white feathers. On the red flag was the white horse of Hanover, with the motto, "Ne aspera terrent." Over it, the boots were of jerked leather, the cloaks scarlet, with blue collar and cuffs. The officers wore a buff waistcoat by silver-lace embroidery, and crimson silk sashes, worn across the left shoulder. The sergeants had blue and yellow worsted sashes round their waists.

In 1716, George the Second changed the dress of the Royal British Dragoons. The new coats were scarlet, double-breasted, and lined with blue, with slit sleeves turned up with blue, buttons of white metal, and white worsted aiguillettes on the right shoulder. The waistcoat and breeches were blue, with blue cloth grenadier caps, having on the front the three crowns and a plume of white feathers. On the red flag was the white horse of Hanover, with the motto, "Ne aspera terrent." Over it, the boots were of jerked leather, the cloaks scarlet, with blue collar and cuffs. The officers wore a buff waistcoat by silver-lace embroidery, and crimson silk sashes, worn across the left shoulder. The sergeants had blue and yellow worsted sashes round their waists.

At Waterloo the Greys particularly distinguished themselves, carrying off one of the special trophies of the battle. When we got clear through the Highlanders," says James Arden, of Glasgow, a rough rider of the Scots Greys, "we were soon on the charge, and a short one it was. A cross-road being in our way, we leaped the first hedge gallantly, traversed the road, and had to leap over another hedge. At this time the smoke from the firing on both sides made us so dark that we could not see distinctly. We had not charged many yards till we came to a column. As yet we had stuck pretty well together, although a great number had fallen about the cross roads. In a very short time we were down upon the column, making pretty clean work of them. Numbers by this time had dropped off, still we pushed forward, and very soon came upon another column, who cried out 'Prisoners!' threw down their arms, stripped themselves of their belts, in accordance with the usual discipline, and ran like hares towards the rear. We pushed on still, and soon came up to another column, some of whom went down on their knees, calling out 'Quarter,' in tones of supplication. Now then, we got among the guns, which had so terribly annoyed us, and paid back the annoyance in grey horse. In the Wousterman, when the Dutch left England the King mounted the Royal Scots in a similar manner. The Life Guards already affected black horses, and the French had the custom of distinguishing their cours d'élite by the colour of their horses. In Marlborough's battles these grey horses were now to strike terror among the French. In 1702, the Scots Greys were in Spanish Guelderland, and covered the sieges of Venloo, Ruremond, and Stevensweert, one squadron serving as a guard to Marlborough himself. On his way to Holland, escorted by a squadron of Greys, Marlborough and General Coburg were captured on the Meuse by a French partisan leader, and only escaped by an attendant slipping a French pass into Marlborough's hand, he having disguised himself as a fugitive. In 1703, the Scots Greys distinguished themselves by defeating a French detachment, which had captured a quantity of English specie, recovering the spoil. In 1704, Lord John Hay, son of the Marquis of Tweeddale, was appointed colonel of the Scots Greys. This year Marlborough, having the Rhine and Moselle, and pushed on to the Danube, to assist the Emperor Leopold, then threatened by the French and Bavarians, who had broken through the Black Forest. At Schellenberg the Scots Greys attacked the heights, and serving as infantry in 1705, they fought the battles of Blenheim and Ramillies. In 1706, the Scots Greys drove the French across the Danube. The regiment here lost Captain Douglas and seven men, and nineteen others were wounded.

At Ramillies (1706) the Scots Greys covered themselves with glory. When Churchill and Mordaunt's regiments descended from the heights of Foutz, and drove the French into a morass, where they sank or were butchered, the Scots Greys attacked the enemy's left, routed the French cavalry, and cut several squadrons to pieces. They then spurred into the village of Autzreling, and sabred the French, flushed by victory, they broke into the French Regiment du Roi, which at once surrendered, and gave up its colours and arms to the riders of the grey horses. In a Dutch account of this battle it is stated that the Scots Greys took sixteen or seventeen colours and standards. It is probable that this regiment was the Scots Greys.

One of the private soldiers of the Scots Greys, wounded at the battle of Ramillies, proved to be a famous name. Mrs. Christian Davies, and her life and adventures, were published in a small octavo volume. She stated she was a native of Ireland, and that her husband had having entered the army, she put on his clothes and went in quest of him; but not meeting with him, she enlisted in a regiment of foot, and in 1712 in the Scots Greys. In the campaign of that and the following year, and in 1714 was wounded in the leg at Schellenberg. After the battle of Blenheim, when escorting French prisoners towards Holland, she met with her husband, who was then a private soldier in the First Royal Dragoon, and was known to him, and from this time passed as his brother, until after the battle of Ramillies, where she was wounded by a shell, and her sex discovered by the surgeons. "No sooner had they made the discovery," observes in her narrative, "but they acquainted Brigadier Preston that his pretty dragoon (for so I was always called) was a woman. The news spread far and near, and reaching my Lord John Hay's ears, he came to see me, as did my former commander, who called for my husband. He gave him a full and satisfactory account of our first acquaintance, marriage, and situation, with the manner of his having entered the service, and my resolution to go in search of him. My lord seemed very well entertained with my history, and ordered that my husband should continue while under care. When his lordship heard that I was well enough recovered to go abroad, he generously sent me a parcel of linen. Brigadier Preston made me a present of a handsome silk gown; every one of our officers complimented me, and the kindness with which was requisite for the dress of my sex, and I was personally thanked them. The Greys lost about 30 officers and men killed and wounded.

In 1712 George the Second reviewed the Scots Greys on New Green. "Fine hardy fellows, that want no reasoning," says the Champion of June 1712, "the Duke of Marlborough was especially pleased with these bull-dog soldiers, and personally thanked them. The Greys lost about 30 officers and men killed and wounded.

In 1716, George the Second changed the dress of the Royal British Dragoons. The new coats were scarlet, double-breasted, and lined with blue, with slit sleeves turned up with blue, buttons of white metal, and white worsted aiguillettes on the right shoulder. The waistcoat and breeches were blue, with blue cloth grenadier caps, having on the front the three crowns and a plume of white feathers. On the red flag was the white horse of Hanover, with the motto, "Ne aspera terrent." Over it, the boots were of jerked leather, the cloaks scarlet, with blue collar and cuffs. The officers wore a buff waistcoat by silver-lace embroidery, and crimson silk sashes, worn across the left shoulder. The sergeants had blue and yellow worsted sashes round their waists.

In 1716, George the Second changed the dress of the Royal British Dragoons. The new coats were scarlet, double-breasted, and lined with blue, with slit sleeves turned up with blue, buttons of white metal, and white worsted aiguillettes on the right shoulder. The waistcoat and breeches were blue, with blue cloth grenadier caps, having on the front the three crowns and a plume of white feathers. On the red flag was the white horse of Hanover, with the motto, "Ne aspera terrent." Over it, the boots were of jerked leather, the cloaks scarlet, with blue collar and cuffs. The officers wore a buff waistcoat by silver-lace embroidery, and crimson silk sashes, worn across the left shoulder. The sergeants had blue and yellow worsted sashes round their waists.

In 1716, George the Second changed the dress of the Royal British Dragoons. The new coats were scarlet, double-breasted, and lined with blue, with slit sleeves turned up with blue, buttons of white metal, and white worsted aiguillettes on the right shoulder. The waistcoat and breeches were blue, with blue cloth grenadier caps, having on the front the three crowns and a plume of white feathers. On the red flag was the white horse of Hanover, with the motto, "Ne aspera terrent." Over it, the boots were of jerked leather, the cloaks scarlet, with blue collar and cuffs. The officers wore a buff waistcoat by silver-lace embroidery, and crimson silk sashes, worn across the left shoulder. The sergeants had blue and yellow worsted sashes round their waists.

In 1716, George the Second changed the dress of the Royal British Dragoons. The new coats were scarlet, double-breasted, and lined with blue, with slit sleeves turned up with blue, buttons of white metal, and white worsted aiguillettes on the right shoulder. The waistcoat and breeches were blue, with blue cloth grenadier caps, having on the front the three crowns and a plume of white feathers. On the red flag was the white horse of Hanover, with the motto, "Ne aspera terrent." Over it, the boots were of jerked leather, the cloaks scarlet, with blue collar and cuffs. The officers wore a buff waistcoat by silver-lace embroidery, and crimson silk sashes, worn across the left shoulder. The sergeants had blue and yellow worsted sashes round their waists.

At Waterloo the Greys particularly distinguished themselves, carrying off one of the special trophies of the battle. When we got clear through the Highlanders," says James Arden, of Glasgow, a rough rider of the Scots Greys, "we were soon on the charge, and a short one it was. A cross-road being in our way, we leaped the first hedge gallantly, traversed the road, and had to leap over another hedge. At this time the smoke from the firing on both sides made us so dark that we could not see distinctly. We had not charged many yards till we came to a column. As yet we had stuck pretty well together, although a great number had fallen about the cross roads. In a very short time we were down upon the column, making pretty clean work of them. Numbers by this time had dropped off, still we pushed forward, and very soon came upon another column, who cried out 'Prisoners!' threw down their arms, stripped themselves of their belts, in accordance with the usual discipline, and ran like hares towards the rear. We pushed on still, and soon came up to another column, some of whom went down on their knees, calling out 'Quarter,' in tones of supplication. Now then, we got among the guns, which had so terribly annoyed us, and paid back the annoyance in grey horse. In the Wousterman, when the Dutch left England the King mounted the Royal Scots in a similar manner. The Life Guards already affected black horses, and the French had the custom of distinguishing their cours d'élite by the colour of their horses. In Marlborough's battles these grey horses were now to strike terror among the French. In 1702, the Scots Greys were in Spanish Guelderland, and covered the sieges of Venloo, Ruremond, and Stevensweert, one squadron serving as a guard to Marlborough himself. On his way to Holland, escorted by a squadron of Greys, Marlborough and General Coburg were captured on the Meuse by a French partisan leader, and only escaped by an attendant slipping a French pass into Marlborough's hand, he having disguised himself as a fugitive. In 1703, the Scots Greys distinguished themselves by defeating a French detachment, which had captured a quantity of English specie, recovering the spoil. In 1704, Lord John Hay, son of the Marquis of Tweeddale, was appointed colonel of the Scots Greys. This year Marlborough, having the Rhine and Moselle, and pushed on to the Danube, to assist the Emperor Leopold, then threatened by the French and Bavarians, who had broken through the Black Forest. At Schellenberg the Scots Greys attacked the heights, and serving as infantry in 1705, they fought the battles of Blenheim and Ramillies. In 1706, the Scots Greys drove the French across the Danube. The regiment here lost Captain Douglas and seven men, and nineteen others were wounded.

At Ramillies (1706) the Scots Greys covered themselves with glory. When Churchill and Mordaunt's regiments descended from the heights of Foutz, and drove the French into a morass, where they sank or were butchered, the Scots Greys attacked the enemy's left, routed the French cavalry, and cut several squadrons to pieces. They then spurred into the village of Autzreling, and sabred the French, flushed by victory, they broke into the French Regiment du Roi, which at once surrendered, and gave up its colours and arms to the riders of the grey horses. In a Dutch account of this battle it is stated that the Scots Greys took sixteen or seventeen colours and standards. It is probable that this regiment was the Scots Greys.

One of the private soldiers of the Scots Greys, wounded at the battle of Ramillies, proved to be a famous name. Mrs. Christian Davies, and her life and adventures, were published in a small octavo volume. She stated she was a native of Ireland, and that her husband had having entered the army, she put on his clothes and went in quest of him; but not meeting with him, she enlisted in a regiment of foot, and in 1712 in the Scots Greys. In the campaign of that and the following year, and in 1714 was wounded in the leg at Schellenberg. After the battle of Blenheim, when escorting French prisoners towards Holland, she met with her husband, who was then a private soldier in the First Royal Dragoon, and was known to him, and from this time passed as his brother, until after the battle of Ramillies, where she was wounded by a shell, and her sex discovered by the surgeons. "No sooner had they made the discovery," observes in her narrative, "but they acquainted Brigadier Preston that his pretty dragoon (for so I was always called) was a woman. The news spread far and near, and reaching my Lord John Hay's ears, he came to see me, as did my former commander, who called for my husband. He gave him a full and satisfactory account of our first acquaintance, marriage, and situation, with the manner of his having entered the service, and my resolution to go in search of him. My lord seemed very well entertained with my history, and ordered that my husband should continue while under care. When his lordship heard that I was well enough recovered to go abroad, he generously sent me a parcel of linen. Brigadier Preston made me a present of a handsome silk gown; every one of our officers complimented me, and the kindness with which was requisite for the dress of my sex, and I was personally thanked them. The Greys lost about 30 officers and men killed and wounded.

In 1712 George the Second reviewed the Scots Greys on New Green. "Fine hardy fellows, that want no reasoning," says the Champion of June 1712, "the Duke of Marlborough was especially pleased with these bull-dog soldiers, and personally thanked them. The Greys lost about 30 officers and men killed and wounded.

In 1716, George the Second changed the dress of the Royal British Dragoons. The new coats were scarlet, double-breasted, and lined with blue, with slit sleeves turned up with blue, buttons of white metal, and white worsted aiguillettes on the right shoulder. The waistcoat and breeches were blue, with blue cloth grenadier caps, having on the front the three crowns and a plume of white feathers. On the red flag was the white horse of Hanover, with the motto, "Ne aspera terrent." Over it, the boots were of jerked leather, the cloaks scarlet, with blue collar and cuffs. The officers wore a buff waistcoat by silver-lace embroidery, and crimson silk sashes, worn across the left shoulder. The sergeants had blue and yellow worsted sashes round their waists.

In 1716, George the Second changed the dress of the Royal British Dragoons. The new coats were scarlet, double-breasted, and lined with blue, with slit sleeves turned up with blue, buttons of white metal, and white worsted aiguillettes on the right shoulder. The waistcoat and breeches were blue, with blue cloth grenadier caps, having on the front the three crowns and a plume of white feathers. On the red flag was the white horse of Hanover, with the motto, "Ne aspera terrent." Over it, the boots were of jerked leather, the cloaks scarlet, with blue collar and cuffs. The officers wore a buff waistcoat by silver-lace embroidery, and crimson silk sashes, worn across the left shoulder. The sergeants had blue and yellow worsted sashes round their waists.

In 1716, George the Second changed the dress of the Royal British Dragoons. The new coats were scarlet, double-breasted, and lined with blue, with slit sleeves turned up with blue, buttons of white metal, and white worsted aiguillettes on the right shoulder. The waistcoat and breeches were blue, with blue cloth grenadier caps, having on the front the three crowns and a plume of white feathers. On the red flag was the white horse of Hanover, with the motto, "Ne aspera terrent." Over it, the boots were of jerked leather, the cloaks scarlet, with blue collar and cuffs. The officers wore a buff waistcoat by silver-lace embroidery, and crimson silk sashes, worn across the left shoulder. The sergeants had blue and yellow worsted sashes round their waists.

In 1716, George the Second changed the dress of the Royal British Dragoons. The new coats were scarlet, double-breasted, and lined with blue, with slit sleeves turned up with blue, buttons of white metal, and white worsted aiguillettes on the right shoulder. The waistcoat and breeches were blue, with blue cloth grenadier caps, having on the front the three crowns and a plume of white feathers. On the red flag was the white horse of Hanover, with the motto, "Ne aspera terrent." Over it, the boots were of jerked leather, the cloaks scarlet, with blue collar and cuffs. The officers wore a buff waistcoat by silver-lace embroidery, and crimson silk sashes, worn across the left shoulder. The sergeants had blue and yellow worsted sashes round their waists.

At Waterloo the Greys particularly distinguished themselves, carrying off one of the special trophies of the battle. When we got clear through the Highlanders," says James Arden, of Glasgow, a rough rider of the Scots Greys, "we were soon on the charge, and a short one it was. A cross-road being in our way, we leaped the first hedge gallantly, traversed the road, and had to leap over another hedge. At this time the smoke from the firing on both sides made us so dark that we could not see distinctly. We had not charged many yards till we came to a column. As yet we had stuck pretty well together, although a great number had fallen about the cross roads. In a very short time we were down upon the column, making pretty clean work of them. Numbers by this time had dropped off, still we pushed forward, and very soon came upon another column, who cried out 'Prisoners!' threw down their arms, stripped themselves of their belts, in accordance with the usual discipline, and ran like hares towards the rear. We pushed on still, and soon came up to another column, some of whom went down on their knees, calling out 'Quarter,' in tones of supplication. Now then, we got among the guns, which had so terribly annoyed us

DRAPERY HABERDASHERY, ETC.

FOR THE RACES—Light Tweed DUST COATS
FOR THE RACES—Coloured Lustre DUST
COATS
FOR THE RACES—The EIGHT-OUNCE WATER-PROOF COATS
FOR THE RACES—Tweed Double Texture WATER-
PROOF COATS
FOR THE RACES—Waterproof BUGGY WRAPS, all
kinds
FOR THE RACES—The Eponi Neck-Wraps, all
kinds
FOR THE RACES—Blue VEILS, TURBANS, and COIFERS
FOR THE RACES—New CUFFS, FRONTS, and COLLARS
FOR THE RACES—The best UMBRELLAS ever invented
ALL RACING COLOURS in Scarfs, Ties, and Bows, and SMITH'S WELL-KNOWN SHIRT HOUSE,
Paris, Melbourne, and Straw Hats.

PARIS HATS.
Just received this season.
THE LADIES' PARIS RIDING HATS
new worn. To be made to order.
DRESS HATS.
Very light and durable. From 12s. 6d.
MORNING HATS, CORK BODIES,
and all the latest novelties.

THE ANTI-SUNSTROKE THE EXPLORER.
Black and dark Veils, in all the prevailing shapes
and styles, from 6d. to 12s. 6d.
JUST RECEIVED, per HAWKESBURY,
the latest styles in a large variety of new styles, suitable for the present season.

TURBANS TURBANS TURBANS.
Large assortment in China, Silk, Grosgrain, and all the latest novelties.

OUR HENRIY DEPARTMENT.
The latest novelties in the new styles for Gentlemen,
and all the latest novelties.

GENTLEMEN'S UMBRELLAS.
Just received extra sizes, in Twisted Silk, Zanzibar,
and all the latest novelties.

PORTMAN'S PORTMAN'S.
A new large assortment of goods just to hand,
in all the latest novelties.

THOMPSON AND GILES.
Opposite Bank of N. S. Wales.

BANDWICK RACES.
New New Bow Ties
New New Bow Ties
New New Bow Ties

White Shirts, open behind, with all the new fit-
ting, from 4s. 6d. to 12s. 6d.
New White Shirts, Military Fronts, 4s. 6d., 5s.,
6s., 7s., 8s., 9s., 10s., 11s., 12s. 6d.

White Shirts, open behind, with all the new fit-
ting, from 4s. 6d. to 12s. 6d.
New White Shirts, Military Fronts, 4s. 6d., 5s.,
6s., 7s., 8s., 9s., 10s., 11s., 12s. 6d.

White Shirts, open behind, with all the new fit-
ting, from 4s. 6d. to 12s. 6d.
New White Shirts, Military Fronts, 4s. 6d., 5s.,
6s., 7s., 8s., 9s., 10s., 11s., 12s. 6d.

White Shirts, open behind, with all the new fit-
ting, from 4s. 6d. to 12s. 6d.
New White Shirts, Military Fronts, 4s. 6d., 5s.,
6s., 7s., 8s., 9s., 10s., 11s., 12s. 6d.

White Shirts, open behind, with all the new fit-
ting, from 4s. 6d. to 12s. 6d.
New White Shirts, Military Fronts, 4s. 6d., 5s.,
6s., 7s., 8s., 9s., 10s., 11s., 12s. 6d.

White Shirts, open behind, with all the new fit-
ting, from 4s. 6d. to 12s. 6d.
New White Shirts, Military Fronts, 4s. 6d., 5s.,
6s., 7s., 8s., 9s., 10s., 11s., 12s. 6d.

White Shirts, open behind, with all the new fit-
ting, from 4s. 6d. to 12s. 6d.
New White Shirts, Military Fronts, 4s. 6d., 5s.,
6s., 7s., 8s., 9s., 10s., 11s., 12s. 6d.

White Shirts, open behind, with all the new fit-
ting, from 4s. 6d. to 12s. 6d.
New White Shirts, Military Fronts, 4s. 6d., 5s.,
6s., 7s., 8s., 9s., 10s., 11s., 12s. 6d.

White Shirts, open behind, with all the new fit-
ting, from 4s. 6d. to 12s. 6d.
New White Shirts, Military Fronts, 4s. 6d., 5s.,
6s., 7s., 8s., 9s., 10s., 11s., 12s. 6d.

White Shirts, open behind, with all the new fit-
ting, from 4s. 6d. to 12s. 6d.
New White Shirts, Military Fronts, 4s. 6d., 5s.,
6s., 7s., 8s., 9s., 10s., 11s., 12s. 6d.

White Shirts, open behind, with all the new fit-
ting, from 4s. 6d. to 12s. 6d.
New White Shirts, Military Fronts, 4s. 6d., 5s.,
6s., 7s., 8s., 9s., 10s., 11s., 12s. 6d.

White Shirts, open behind, with all the new fit-
ting, from 4s. 6d. to 12s. 6d.
New White Shirts, Military Fronts, 4s. 6d., 5s.,
6s., 7s., 8s., 9s., 10s., 11s., 12s. 6d.

White Shirts, open behind, with all the new fit-
ting, from 4s. 6d. to 12s. 6d.
New White Shirts, Military Fronts, 4s. 6d., 5s.,
6s., 7s., 8s., 9s., 10s., 11s., 12s. 6d.

White Shirts, open behind, with all the new fit-
ting, from 4s. 6d. to 12s. 6d.
New White Shirts, Military Fronts, 4s. 6d., 5s.,
6s., 7s., 8s., 9s., 10s., 11s., 12s. 6d.

White Shirts, open behind, with all the new fit-
ting, from 4s. 6d. to 12s. 6d.
New White Shirts, Military Fronts, 4s. 6d., 5s.,
6s., 7s., 8s., 9s., 10s., 11s., 12s. 6d.

White Shirts, open behind, with all the new fit-
ting, from 4s. 6d. to 12s. 6d.
New White Shirts, Military Fronts, 4s. 6d., 5s.,
6s., 7s., 8s., 9s., 10s., 11s., 12s. 6d.

White Shirts, open behind, with all the new fit-
ting, from 4s. 6d. to 12s. 6d.
New White Shirts, Military Fronts, 4s. 6d., 5s.,
6s., 7s., 8s., 9s., 10s., 11s., 12s. 6d.

White Shirts, open behind, with all the new fit-
ting, from 4s. 6d. to 12s. 6d.
New White Shirts, Military Fronts, 4s. 6d., 5s.,
6s., 7s., 8s., 9s., 10s., 11s., 12s. 6d.

White Shirts, open behind, with all the new fit-
ting, from 4s. 6d. to 12s. 6d.
New White Shirts, Military Fronts, 4s. 6d., 5s.,
6s., 7s., 8s., 9s., 10s., 11s., 12s. 6d.

White Shirts, open behind, with all the new fit-
ting, from 4s. 6d. to 12s. 6d.
New White Shirts, Military Fronts, 4s. 6d., 5s.,
6s., 7s., 8s., 9s., 10s., 11s., 12s. 6d.

White Shirts, open behind, with all the new fit-
ting, from 4s. 6d. to 12s. 6d.
New White Shirts, Military Fronts, 4s. 6d., 5s.,
6s., 7s., 8s., 9s., 10s., 11s., 12s. 6d.

White Shirts, open behind, with all the new fit-
ting, from 4s. 6d. to 12s. 6d.
New White Shirts, Military Fronts, 4s. 6d., 5s.,
6s., 7s., 8s., 9s., 10s., 11s., 12s. 6d.

White Shirts, open behind, with all the new fit-
ting, from 4s. 6d. to 12s. 6d.
New White Shirts, Military Fronts, 4s. 6d., 5s.,
6s., 7s., 8s., 9s., 10s., 11s., 12s. 6d.

White Shirts, open behind, with all the new fit-
ting, from 4s. 6d. to 12s. 6d.
New White Shirts, Military Fronts, 4s. 6d., 5s.,
6s., 7s., 8s., 9s., 10s., 11s., 12s. 6d.

White Shirts, open behind, with all the new fit-
ting, from 4s. 6d. to 12s. 6d.
New White Shirts, Military Fronts, 4s. 6d., 5s.,
6s., 7s., 8s., 9s., 10s., 11s., 12s. 6d.

White Shirts, open behind, with all the new fit-
ting, from 4s. 6d. to 12s. 6d.
New White Shirts, Military Fronts, 4s. 6d., 5s.,
6s., 7s., 8s., 9s., 10s., 11s., 12s. 6d.

White Shirts, open behind, with all the new fit-
ting, from 4s. 6d. to 12s. 6d.
New White Shirts, Military Fronts, 4s. 6d., 5s.,
6s., 7s., 8s., 9s., 10s., 11s., 12s. 6d.

White Shirts, open behind, with all the new fit-
ting, from 4s. 6d. to 12s. 6d.
New White Shirts, Military Fronts, 4s. 6d., 5s.,
6s., 7s., 8s., 9s., 10s., 11s., 12s. 6d.

White Shirts, open behind, with all the new fit-
ting, from 4s. 6d. to 12s. 6d.
New White Shirts, Military Fronts, 4s. 6d., 5s.,
6s., 7s., 8s., 9s., 10s., 11s., 12s. 6d.

White Shirts, open behind, with all the new fit-
ting, from 4s. 6d. to 12s. 6d.
New White Shirts, Military Fronts, 4s. 6d., 5s.,
6s., 7s., 8s., 9s., 10s., 11s., 12s. 6d.

White Shirts, open behind, with all the new fit-
ting, from 4s. 6d. to 12s. 6d.
New White Shirts, Military Fronts, 4s. 6d., 5s.,
6s., 7s., 8s., 9s., 10s., 11s., 12s. 6d.

White Shirts, open behind, with all the new fit-
ting, from 4s. 6d. to 12s. 6d.
New White Shirts, Military Fronts, 4s. 6d., 5s.,
6s., 7s., 8s., 9s., 10s., 11s., 12s. 6d.

White Shirts, open behind, with all the new fit-
ting, from 4s. 6d. to 12s. 6d.
New White Shirts, Military Fronts, 4s. 6d., 5s.,
6s., 7s., 8s., 9s., 10s., 11s., 12s. 6d.

THE "HOME" SHUTTLE LOCK STITCH

GUARANTEED FOR FIVE YEARS.
THE BEST FAMILY SEWING-MACHINE IN
THE WORLD, NOTWITHSTANDING ITS RE-MARKABLE LOW PRICE, AND HAS THE LARGEST SALE OF ANY IN AUSTRALIA.
PACKED COMPLETE, 25s. 6d.

THE "COMMON SENSE" CHAIN STITCH.
THE MOST PERFECT IN THE MARKET.
PACKED COMPLETE, 25s. 6d.

TABLES AND TREADLES, WITH GUARD AND DRAWER.
SAMPLERS, TESTIMONIALS, AND INSTRU-CTIONS ON APPLICATION.
M. MOSS AND CO.,
Wayland-lane.

IT is universally admitted that no SEWING-MACHINE has approached the silent working WHEELER and WILSON in rapidity of action, firmness, elasticity of stitch, perfect adaptation to every kind of work, easiness of comprehension to the learner, simplicity of construction, and amazing durability.

The numerous attempts to imitate it show the great popularity of the "HOME" and "COMMON SENSE" Machines, and experience proves that the imitations in no way equal the genuine.

Over 1,000,000 in use,
And the sale is now nearly 300,000 a year.

CAUTION.—Unprincipled dealers clandestinely use the
well-known name of Wheeler and Wilson to palm a spurious
imitation on a credulous public.

The new FAMILY FRIEND LOCK-STITCH
MACHINE, No. 4, 11.
LONG and CO., 287, George-street, Sole Agents.
BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS.

ALL KINDS OF GENUINE SEWING-
MACHINES FOR SALE.
SINGERS, with NEW YORK TRADE MARK, 25
HOWES, none GENUINE without TRADE MARK, 25
WHEELER and WILSON, from 27
All kinds of HAND and SINGERS, and experience
proves that the imitations in no way equal the genuine.

A machine in every family by our TIME PAT-
ENT system. INSTALLMENTS taken from 21.
Institution of the "HOME" and "COMMON SENSE" Machines.
TURNER and WOODS, 349, GEORGE-STREET.

THE LITTLE WANDER SEWING-MACHINE.
THE PRIZE MACHINE OF THE WORLD.
USED IN THE BRITISH NATIONAL SCHOOLS.
Price, 25s.

Agents—GIBBS, SHALLARD, and CO., Account-
ant, Book Binders, and General Printers, 108, Pitt-street.

BUILDING MATERIALS, ETC.
50,000 FEET OF GALVANIZED IRON RIDGE
COPING, GUTTERING, DOWN PIPES,
&c., always on hand. The trade supplied at reduced prices.
G. O. PLAIN IRON.
J. A. BROWN, 276, Pitt-street.

CEMENT ON SALE, in board and log, all sizes.
STREET, BROTHERS, Sussex-street.

PINE—T. and G. and Rough Boards, at reduced rates,
Fitches and Logs. Street, Brothers, Sussex-street.

HOBART TOWN PAINTING and SHINGLES, first
quality. T. and G. Street, Brothers, Sussex-street.

IRONBARK GIRDERS, Hardwood Timber, Palings,
Shingles, on SALE. Street, Brothers, Sussex-street.

CEMENT, Plaster, Wire and Lath Nails, Zinc Lead,
&c. G. O. and Crown Galv. Iron, Drain Pipes, Tiles,
Fire Bricks, &c. Slates, best Bangor, all sizes. G. E.
(BARKER) City Cement Stores, New Pitt-street.

MARBLE Chimney-pieces and Registers, new
designs, reduced prices. W. G. G. Railway Bridge.

CEMENT, Plaster, Slates, Sheet Lead, Lead Pipes, Zinc
Galv. Tubing and Fittings. Carr, Railway Bridge.

25 Head of First-class Horses from the Waverley.

GEORGE KISS has received instructions
from the proprietor to sell by auction, at the Camperdown Yards, THIS DAY, 5th September, at 10
o'clock a.m.

25 first-class horses, amongst which the following are
broken—

1—Black horse Midnight, a first-class hack,
2—Bay horse Potentia, a first-class hack, or would make an excellent buggy horse, being thoroughbred
and quiet

3—Black horse Chance, capital roadster or stock horse
4—Crown mare Creamy, quiet and carries a heavy
5—Bay pony Ratty, a good quiet pony

6—Black pony Comet, a fine pony accustomed to town
7—Black mare Betty, by Lord of the Mills

8—Black mare Jessie, young, not much tried

9—Black pony Paddy, a really good animal

10—Bay horse Lightning, a fine horse, only partially
broken

Annual Sale of Thoroughbred Stock.

GEORGE KISS will hold his annual sale
of thoroughbred stock on MONDAY next,
the 8th instant, at the Bazaar, at 12 o'clock.

Owners of racehorses who intend offering any of their
stock for sale will please leave instructions at the Bazaar
in time to have them advertised for MONDAY, the 8th instant.

Important Sale of Thoroughbred Horses.
Brows Collie, by The Barb, 3 years old
Brown Mare, by Lord of the Williams, 4 years old.

GEORGE KISS has received instructions
from Mr. William Archer (whose business transactions require his undivided attention) to sell by
auction, at the Bazaar, on MONDAY, the 8th September,
at 12 o'clock.

A brown colt, 3 years old, very powerful, by The Barb,
out of Avalanche

A bay gelding, by Yattendon, 3 years, own brother to
the Williams

It is seldom that breeders will meet with such an opportunity of securing a horse for stud purposes as that now offered in The Barb colt, whose breeding, both on the sire's and dam's side, is undoubted the best in the colonies,
and both have been great performers on the turf.

The above horses will be on view at the Bazaar
until day of sale.

Thoroughbred Colt, "NORMANBY"
Thoroughbred Filly, "DOLLY YARDEN."

GEORGE KISS has received instructions
from Rowland Yeomans, Esq., of West
Maitland, to sell by auction, at the Bazaar, on MONDAY,
the 8th instant, at 12 o'clock.

"NORMANBY," bay colt (foaled 7th September, 1872), by New Warrior, imported, out of
"Zembla," by "Platford," imported, from
"Amber," by "Gloucester," imported, from
"Amber," by "Gloucester," imported, from
"Amber," by "Gloucester," imported, from

"DOLLY YARDEN," a beautiful bay, with black points,
a fine grown colt, with plenty bone, has been well taken care
of since a foal; is nicely broken in, perfectly quiet, in good condition, and has never raced or served a mare, and would make a splendid stallion, if not required for the turf.

"DOLLY YARDEN," a beautiful bay, with black points,
a fine grown colt, with plenty bone, has been well taken care
of since a foal; is nicely broken in, perfectly quiet, in good condition, and has never raced or served a mare, and would make a splendid stallion, if not required for the turf.

"DOLLY YARDEN," a beautiful bay, with black points,
a fine grown colt, with plenty bone, has been well taken care
of since a foal; is nicely broken in, perfectly quiet, in good condition, and has never raced or served a mare, and would make a splendid stallion, if not required for the turf.

"DOLLY YARDEN," a beautiful bay, with black points,
a fine grown colt, with plenty bone, has been well taken care
of since a foal; is nicely broken in, perfectly quiet, in good condition, and has never raced or served a mare, and would make a splendid stallion, if not required for the turf.

"DOLLY YARDEN," a beautiful bay, with black points,
a fine grown colt, with plenty bone, has been well taken care
of since a foal; is nicely broken in, perfectly quiet, in good condition, and has never raced or served a mare, and would make a splendid stallion, if not required for the turf.

SOUTH DOWN EWES AND ANGORA GOATS.

THOMAS DAWSON is instructed to sell
by auction, at Wooler's Bazaar, Pitt-street, on SATURDAY next, at 11 o'clock punctually,
5 Angora goats,
1 ditto buck
2 South Down ewes.

Pure-bred Leicester Rams.
THOMAS DAWSON is instructed to sell
by auction, at Wooler's Bazaar, Pitt-street, on SATURDAY next, the 6th instant, punctually at 11 o'clock, 6 imported Leicester rams.

Terms, cash.
Fat Wethers, Fat Wethers.

G. M. PITT has received instructions from John M. Elmore, Esq., to sell by auction,
THIS DAY, September 5, at 11 o'clock, at the Bazaar, 500 prime fat wethers, in lots, fully 64 lbs. each, per 8000 prime fat wethers, in lots, fully 64 lbs. each, per 8000 prime fat wethers, in lots, fully 64 lbs. each, per

And the sale is now nearly 300,000 a year.

CAUTION.—Unprincipled dealers clandestinely use the
well-known name of Wheeler and Wilson to palm a spurious
imitation on a credulous public.

The new FAMILY FRIEND LOCK-STITCH
MACHINE, No. 4, 11.
LONG and CO., 287, George-street, Sole Agents.
BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS.

ALL KINDS OF GENUINE SEWING-
MACHINES FOR SALE.
SINGERS, with NEW YORK TRADE MARK, 25
HOWES, none GENUINE without TRADE MARK, 25
WHEELER and WILSON, from 27
All kinds of HAND and SINGERS, and experience
proves that the imitations in no way equal the genuine.

A machine in every family by our TIME PAT-
ENT system. INSTALLMENTS taken from 21.
Institution of the "HOME" and "COMMON SENSE" Machines.
TURNER and WOODS, 349, GEORGE-STREET.

THE LITTLE WANDER SEWING-MACHINE.
THE PRIZE MACHINE OF THE WORLD.
USED IN THE BRITISH NATIONAL SCHOOLS.
Price, 25s.

Agents—GIBBS, SHALLARD, and CO., Account-
ant, Book Binders, and General Printers, 108, Pitt-street.

BUILDING MATERIALS, ETC.
50,000 FEET OF GALVANIZED IRON RIDGE
COPING, GUTTERING, DOWN PIPES,
&c., always on hand. The trade supplied at reduced prices.
G. O. PLAIN IRON.
J. A. BROWN, 276, Pitt-street.

CEMENT ON SALE, in board and log, all sizes.
STREET, BROTHERS, Sussex-street.

PINE—T. and G. and Rough Boards, at reduced rates,
Fitches and Logs. Street, Brothers, Sussex-street.

HOBART TOWN PAINTING and SHINGLES, first
quality. T. and G. Street, Brothers, Sussex-street.

IRONBARK GIRDERS, Hardwood Timber, Palings,
Shingles, on SALE. Street, Brothers, Sussex-street.

CEMENT, Plaster, Wire and Lath Nails, Zinc Lead,
&c. G. O. and Crown Galv. Iron, Drain Pipes, Tiles,
Fire Bricks, &c. Slates, best Bangor, all sizes. G. E.
(BARKER) City Cement Stores, New Pitt-street.

MARBLE Chimney-pieces and Registers, new
designs, reduced prices. W. G. G. Railway Bridge.

CEMENT, Plaster, Slates, Sheet Lead, Lead Pipes, Zinc
Galv. Tubing and Fittings. Carr, Railway Bridge.

25 Head of First-class Horses from the Waverley.

GEORGE KISS has received instructions
from the proprietor to sell by auction, at the Camperdown Yards, THIS DAY, 5th September, at 10
o'clock a.m.

25 first-class horses, amongst which the following are
broken—

1—Black horse Midnight, a first-class hack,
2—Bay horse Potentia, a first-class hack, or would
make an excellent buggy horse, being thoroughbred
and quiet

3—Black horse Chance, capital roadster or stock horse
4—Crown mare Creamy, quiet and carries a heavy
5—Bay pony Ratty, a good quiet pony

6—Black pony Comet, a fine pony accustomed to town
7—Black mare Betty, by Lord of the Mills

8—Black mare Jessie, young, not much tried

9—Black pony Paddy, a really good animal

10—Bay horse Lightning, a fine horse, only partially
broken

Annual Sale of Thoroughbred Stock.

GEORGE KISS will hold his annual sale
of thoroughbred stock on MONDAY next,
the 8th instant, at the Bazaar, at 12 o'clock.

Owners of racehorses who intend offering any of their
stock for sale will please leave instructions at the Bazaar
in time to have them advertised for MONDAY, the 8th
instant.

Important Sale of Thoroughbred Horses.
Brows Collie, by The Barb, 3 years old
Brown Mare, by Lord of the Williams, 4 years old.

GEORGE KISS has received instructions
from Mr. William Archer (whose business
transactions require his undivided attention) to sell by
auction, at the Bazaar, on MONDAY, the 8th September,
at 12 o'clock.

A brown colt, 3 years old, very powerful, by The Barb,
out of Avalanche

A bay gelding, by Yattendon, 3 years, own brother to
the Williams

It is seldom that breeders will meet with such an opportunity of securing a horse for stud purposes as that now offered in The Barb colt, whose breeding, both on the sire's and dam's side, is undoubted the best in the colonies,
and both have been great performers on the turf.

The above horses will be on view at the Bazaar
until day of sale.

Thoroughbred Colt, "NORMANBY"
Thoroughbred Filly, "DOLLY YARDEN."

GEORGE KISS has received instructions
from Rowland Yeomans, Esq., of West
Maitland, to sell by auction, at the Bazaar, on MONDAY,
the 8th instant, at 12 o'clock.

"NORMANBY," bay colt (foaled 7th September, 1872), by New Warrior, imported, out of
"Zembla," by "Platford," imported, from
"Amber," by "Gloucester," imported, from
"Amber," by "Gloucester," imported, from

"DOLLY YARDEN," a beautiful bay, with black points,
a fine grown colt, with plenty bone, has been well taken care
of since a foal; is nicely broken in, perfectly quiet, in good condition, and has never raced or served a mare

---

TED, strong, active Girl, as General SERVANT. Apply 340, Pitt-street, near Park-st.

TED, a respectable SERVANT (Furnace and Cook), 14, Pitt-street, opposite Messrs. Frith and Co.

TED, a respectable Person as General SERVANT, two in family. Gathorpe, D. recent-st., Globe.

TED, a thorough House and Parlour MAID, Bathurst House, Cumberland-st. N., Down Point.

TED, Housemaid and Cook and Landlady for a family near Goulburn. Glee's Labour Agency.

TED, a HOUSEMAID. Apply, Enou Isy, George and Bathurst streets.

TED, young Girl, as HOUSE and PARLOUR MAID.

Journalists, Cooks,
to, &c. Mrs. Bra

TERS, a BARMAID, with references. Apply
 Tiner's Exchange, King-street.
 TOWN, a smart WAITRESS, two hours daily
 Town Hall Dining Rooms, 479, George-street.
 TOWN, a THOROUGH LAUNDRRESS, two days a week, at the Orange, near Newtown Toller.
 TOWN, a COOK and LAUNDRESS, with references, at 144, Castlingham-street.
 TOWN, a thoroughly good COOK. Apply to Mrs. Dunmore, Rose Hill.
 TOWN, a first-class COOK for a country hotel.
 Apply S. Levin, 164, King-street.
 TOWN, a Second COOK: must be sober. 221,
 George-street North.
 TOWN, a good COOK: references indispensable.
 Apply to Mrs. R. Hill, 35, Bent-street.
 TOWN, good COOK: also Assistant Housemaid. Miss Fowler, 309, Castlingham-st.
 TOWN, a good COOK, male or female. Apply
 60, Sussex-street.
 TOWN, a NURSGIRL. Apply 673, Gower-street.

middle-aged Nuz
servant for Cassilia.

ANTED, competent NURSE, for invalid gentleman. Apply Warburton and Sons, Plymouth Vt.

ANTED, a respectable Person, to waitress a busy first-class Restaurant. Apply to J. W. Young, Essex-street.

ANTED, a respectable young WOMAN, to cook. Macker, 232, Pitt-street.

ANTED, Married Cook—man as General Servant. Apply 419, George-street.

ANTED, a smart WAITER. American Restaurant, Wynyard-square.

ANTED, a young MAN, to drive horse and cart. 71, Market-street.

ANTED, a young MAN, A. McNeill 108, Bourke-street, Surry Hills.

ANTED, a good labouring MAN, to cut and carry stone. Apply M. Tierney, 47, South Head Road.

ANTED, WOOLWASHERS: constant employment. Apply to Messrs. J. and W. G. Smith, 10, Market-street.

ANTED, a young MAN, to make kiosk for Punch's Hotel, Pitt and King streets.

ANTED, for the suburbs, a young W. General SERVANT, where a laundress and good cook. Apply 217, Pitt-street.

ANTED, a General House SERVANT, accustomed to waiting preferred. As a Restaurant, No. 8, Market-street, W. & S.

ANTED, a good HOUSE and P. MAID, with references. Apply, persons in Great Northern Hotel, Newcastle.

ANTED, a good plain COOK and LAUNDRY MAID. Apply to Mrs. J. W. Young, 232, Pitt-street.

A steady GIRL,
self useful. Appl

STED, a LAD, who can milk, work and make himself useful: character
er 10 a.m., Tucker and Co., 379, Geo
Hotel.

---

MENTS BOARD & RESID

TMENTS now vacant at Mrs. Mich
square-street North.

TMENTS and vacancies. Mrs. R
Hon-terrace, Wynyard-square.

CANCY for lady and gentleman, and to
; baths: terms, 21s. 24, Wynyard-s

N requires comfort

Wm.-st. or Darlinghurst; terms. Lex.
SHED APARTMENTS, town and
or without board. E. Ramsay, Bank-SHED APARTMENTS, with use of Forte-street, Woolloomooloo Bay.
RTE BOARD and RESIDENCE.
rie-st., near Domain entrance. Terms
F, two ROOMS, unfurnished. Pinkie
ay-street, Moore Park.

---

TO LET.

RT-STREET, off Victoria-st., HOUSE
rooms, bath, copper. Fairfax, William-st.

OTTAGE. BOX 1

STREET, off Albion-st., Surry Hills, room; rent, 1s 6d. Key Mrs. Ross.
 HOUSES TO LET, every convenience, 11s a week. Whittell and Co., foot of Bathurst-st.
 Y.—To LET, Furnished COITAGE, near St. Mary's Bay. Apply J. B. Smithers, Esq., 100 Pitt-st.
 SHORE.—E. Ramsey, Bank-chase, several compact family residences; 100 Pitt-st.
 SHORE.—To LET or for SALE, elegant family HOUSE and Grounds, beautifully situated near the water, 100 Pitt-st. Apply J. B. Smithers, Esq.
 SHORE.—To LET, double-pane glass and gas fixtures. 70, Parramatta-street.

by H. Vaughan, K
Dean of Durham

T. SHOP and Premises, corner of Market and Tereagh streets. Apply C. Fane, 40, George-st.

T. Milson's Point, North Shore, superior COTTAGE, water frontage. Mrs. Selie, Sainsbury COY.

T. New HOUSE, 4 rooms, &c. No. 210, Beaulieu, Woolloomooloo, 10 minutes from King-street.

T. HOUSE, in Brisbane-street, close to the South D. ROAD; rent, 16s per week. Apply to D. and Co., 466, George-street.

T. BURWOOD HOUSE, Burwood, at present occupied by Walter Church, Esq. Apply to J. Hunter-street.

n grounds, &c.,
-street and St.

tion, house agent, 11, Arundel-street, Chichester.

THE ROYAL HOTEL and COMMERCIAL HOUSE at Binde, near Goulburn, being a good trade; reference can be given at £40 and 15s, Goulburn; and Imperial Hotel, Goulburn. Townsend.

One of the oldest Bakers' Shops in Sydney, very attached, not changed hands for 35 years; not removing to own premises; constant good trading. Apply 106, Kent-street North.

No. 1, Gloucester-street North, most comfortable HOUSE, with splendid view of the harbor, and kitchen, newly painted, and in thorough repair. WILLIAMS FARRELLY, Farrelly's Warehouse.

No. 1, Ultimo Estate, choice ALLOTMENTS in

MORNING

ADVERTISEMENTS: $25 per column; 50 per column
 advertisement under six lines will be charged at the rate of $10.00 per line.
 The death and marriage notices are not charged
 for. Advertisements in the country are sent by mail.
 The BIRTHS AND DEATHS column is published in the journal unless informed with the name of the persons by whom they are sent.
 The MARRIAGES column is published in the correct by the publishing Ministry in England. The same rule is followed in the United States. The marriage notices having been sent to the proper purposes of amending respectable persons.

carbon stamping,

Printed and published by JOHN FAIRFAX and Son,
 of the Sydney Morning Herald, Pitt and Market Streets, Sydney, at the Press of the same.
 Friday, September 4, 1876.